ESTIMATE OF COSTS

Approximate Educational Costs for 2022-2023 (September - April)

Please follow the instructions to use the UBC Cost Calculator linked below to determine your education costs for the 2022-2023 academic year:

- Select your campus and program
- Select the appropriate option for Citizenship
- Select the appropriate option for "Where is your permanent home?"
- Select "On-campus-single room" option for "Where will you be living during the school year? All scholars will be assigned single rooms in UBC Residence. Please select this option for an accurate reflection of your costs.
- Leave the "Will you have financial support?" box blank to ensure that your sources of financial support are not being double counted in the calculator and on this form. The calculator will provide you with the educational cost amount to enter below. Enter the amount from the "Grand Total" in the space below.

Cost calculator: <https://you.ubc.ca/financial-planning/cost/>

 International student tuition fees are set by UBC's Board of Governors, and are subject to an annual review.

The 2022-2023 tuition fees have not yet been determined and the figures in the calculator are based on the previous year.

Costs NOT included in financial-need estimate:

Some costs are not included in the calculation of financial need for the International Scholars Award.

However, these are costs that you and your family need to consider when planning your budget for study in Canada. Do not include these costs in your estimate below.

They include:

- the travel expenses for your arrival to Canada;
- fees for a Canadian Study Permit (visa);
- any medical clearances (examination or certificate fees) that may be required by Canadian immigration;
- cost of living while staying in Canada during the summer months instead of returning home;

Vantage One Applicants - the costs noted in the cost calculator for Vantage One are for your first year only. From year two onwards, your tuition assessment will be under your Bachelor degree program.

DECLARATION

I, Carl Vincent Kho hereby declare that I am not able to pursue post-secondary studies at UBC without receiving the level of financial assistance indicated in this application, and that the statements given by me in this form are true, complete and accurate. I further certify that the funds that have been identified as assured and projected are available and will be provided as indicated. I have carefully reviewed all information provided in this application and I understand that providing misleading information may result in the cancellation of this nomination or any scholarship offer made. I will provide documentation when requested to support my claim.

We will request documentation to verify your family income and assets as listed in the financial information section at a later stage in the application process. Please be prepared to provide documents such as:

- Most recent Income Tax return(s) of parent(s) Statement of annual salary from parent(s)' employer(s)
- If a US citizen applying from the US, a copy of your FAFSA report is required
- Statement/letter from a bank or other financial institution listing all accounts (current, chequing, investment account, etc.) and account balances

Signature

Essays & Extracurriculars

The purpose of this section is to give the Selection Committee a rounded picture of who you are as an individual and as a student. Please note that some questions in this section may be similar to questions in the online Application for Admission to UBC. You may choose to use the same or similar answers or stories in both submissions, but you are encouraged to make use of the extra word count or space allowed here.

Your Story

Please describe a topic that is of importance to you, and how it is a reflection of who you are. Why is this topic important to you? (Maximum 300 words)

I love being first. Not a first-placer-on-a-competition sense, but being the first to try out new things; being the first to explore an area with my friends; trying out a new kind of food for the first time. I am a pioneer by nature because curiosity compels me to try out new things. While that sounds like a nice and optimistic life, the main driving force I fail to acknowledge is boredom. I hate being bored, but boredom helped me move, it was and is essential for my growth.

I am keen on using "boredom": a word usually paired up with negative meanings, as the topic that reflects my being. This is because I am a product of its potential. For instance: I was bored during quarantine, so I joined hackathons to keep myself busy—this gave me the skills and opportunities I needed to start pursuing my career in product design and development.

Being bored means getting time on your hands to explore and finally realize your true passion. The best part is: this phenomenon happens to everybody. This gives everyone an equal opportunity to reflect and work on self-development—or they could turn to Netflix.

Though a double-edged blade, boredom and its potential to change your lives with deliberate decision-making can help people find their true calling. I know it did with mine.

I created a website to complement my essays. This website was made to help UBC paint a picture of me holistically. Perhaps me doing this is proving my point on being the first—the first to provide a supplementary website:

<https://www.carlkho.com>

The International Scholars program takes pride in its community. What does community mean to you? How do you contribute to the well-being of your community? (Maximum 300 words)

I believe everyone should be given easy access to quality education. Reality, however, advocates for otherwise; it has opened a wider chasm between students who can afford, and students who can only afford to dream. Fortunately, I am surrounded by selfless individuals who bear the same beliefs as I do. The community I strongly resonate with is the volunteers I work with to ensure that students—especially the impoverished ones—successfully achieve their goals in life.

Actions speak louder than words. I am involved with two pro-access-to-education initiatives. The first is called One Gadget One Child where I volunteered to be the creative marketing lead. It involved donating gadgets to select students according to financial need. During the initiative's wrap-up, me and my fellow volunteers could not help but tear up when we received multiple handwritten letters from our dependents. We helped 70 families continue their studies during the pandemic.

Inspired by One Gadget One Child, the second initiative--now founded by yours truly--is a platform that curates ongoing scholarships for Filipinos in a website. It lists the major details such as the qualifications, requirements, and benefits. With the site, are three teams of volunteers I have put together. Currently, the site is live and is constantly being updated while I look for opportunities to spread the word. We get an average of 40 visitors per day.

I aspire to embody the saying of Mother Teresa, "When you cannot help many, help one.". Apart from initiatives, I have also raised funds totaling approximately $2,500 for a student raising his siblings after the recent loss of both of his parents. These were examples of how I contributed to the well-being of disadvantaged students with my community. Not for, nor to, but with. I hope to continue creating ripples of change.

Optional question: The International Scholars Program includes awards that recognize outstanding international undergraduate students from impoverished or war-torn areas who have achieved academic excellence under challenging circumstances and hardship, and who would be unable to attend university without significant financial assistance. Do you meet this criteria? Your answer will not impact the application.

No

Your Vision

How do you envision your chosen program of study at UBC helping you reach your long-term career and personal goals? What drives you to achieve your goals? (Maximum 200 words)

My technology skills have exposed me to the world of computers and startups at a young age. It has taught me to love research and the creation of new technologies to solve the problems of today. One thing I have noticed with years of experience, however, is how most startups and hackathons only result in band-aid solutions. This led me to a realization: to progress, humanity must work closely together with Science and target the root of the problem at a foundational level. Thus, my desire to study Engineering Physics was born.

Studying at the University of British Columbia would make up for the lack of manpower, experience, and facilities in the Philippines. My experience during the World Robotics Olympiad 2019 taught me this: even without the right resources, my team managed to self-learn and apply a calculus concept—P.I.D. Control Systems—and land a spot in the worldwide competition; imagine the possibilities if we were given access to proper parts and education.

I wish to enter UBC so that I may contribute to the world, and show other equally-talented, but restricted students that this attainment is possible, by being a self-driven research scientist in emerging technologies.

Optional: UBC's collective vision strives to inspire the local and global community to advance sustainability and climate change goals, and shape a campus environment that supports human well-being and equity and inclusion. How does your vision and your chosen program of study relate to this? We are interested in hearing from students who share these interests as they relate to UBC's vision. This question is optional and there will be no impact to your application if left blank. (Maximum 200 words)

Even before I dreamed of being an Engineering Physics student, I have engineered a mobile app concept called Dump.Waste. This solution provides a crowdsourced data map of identified trash hotspots within a city to help in creating data-driven decisions against illegal dumping. The very same app also enables citizens to initiate and nurture a culture of clean-ups. This idea was born out of a simple 15-minute walk, out in the streets where piles of fly-tipped face masks, shampoo sachets, and bottled waters littered a local beach.

I wish to turn the climate dilemma around in the near future. Hopefully, with the knowledge I get to attain soon, I can get to work with like-minded scientists and lawmakers to finally implement a fool-proof anti-trash system.

Founded and organized Padayun,Ko, a website containing curated scholarships in 2021 for Filipinos. The name comes from the Visayan expression "I will continue".

This initiative was born to break the culture of students needing to rummage through the internet search of up-to-date opportunities.

Currently, I spend three hours per week to plan, update and improve the quality of the site. I also seek partnerships with education platforms.

Tell us which activity, award, or achievement was the most meaningful and why.

(Maximum 100 words)

One Gadget One Child sent me emotional waves of relief and a peace of mind. Knowing how we managed to help 70 families breathe easier inspired me to do more for the world. However, getting to the international stage after being the team always at the bottom of the list every year in the Robotic Olympiads is closer to my heart. It was growth in action. The efforts involved in multiple tries, retries, and iterations will always be a core memory. It showed me that humanity can achieve anything if they put their heart and mind inside of it.

Financial Documents

At this stage in the application phase we will be reviewing and verifying the financial information that was entered in your application at the time of submission. To verify this information, we will be requesting two of the following types of documentation to verify the family income and assets declared in the application.

Such documentation should include the name of the bank or agency or employer, with official stamps, signatures, and date.

- Most recent Income Tax return(s) of parent(s)
- Statement of annual salary from parent(s)' employer(s)
- If a US citizen applying from the US, a copy of your FAFSA report is required.
- Statement/letter from a bank or other financial institution listing all accounts (current, chequing, investment account, etc.) and account balances. If sending bank statements, provide a maximum of the last 3 months.

If the financial documents are not in English, an unofficial/official English translation is required in addition to the original document.

To upload your documents:

- Have all your documents ready for uploading.
 - Only upload summary documents, the complete financial history is not required.
 - Example : For bank statements - attache the bank account summary page only not all transactions in the past year. For tax statements, attach the final tax calculations, not the supporting documents for it.
- Ensure the title of each file represents the document you are uploading (example: "Bank statement year 2021."
- Click the "attach file" button and proceed with uploading.
