📄 How to Prompt like Google Engineers 💡

Carl, our Generative AI Advocate, shares expert strategies on crafting effective AI prompts, based on insights from Google's own documentation. In this article, Carl breaks down a comprehensive prompt template, covering everything from defining the AI's role and task to specifying output format and providing examples. He even showcases a real-world application of this template in a classmate's English tutoring work, where a well-structured prompt streamlines the translation of Korean sentences into English. And stay tuned—Carl teases upcoming content on building an AI Agent Pipeline for broader applications!

Do you ever wonder why AI gets it only after you swear at it?

After multiple back-and-forths, it somehow understands that I want my writing to "not sound like it's made by AI" so I can fool my professors. If AI does retaliate in the future, I can just pour water on it to stop it.

Right?
