Ahong on Juvenile Delinquency

Fun Fact:

This program is brought to you by MX3 corporation and our very own surprise for our mayor Junard "Ahong" Chan!

Oct 4, 2019
in the Mayor's Office

LAPU-LAPU CITY, Cebu – Following the horrifying revelation of the recent gang-rape committed by minors with the youngest of the suspects being a 15-year old. Mayor Junard "Ahong" Chan firmly states that he will be intensifying the city's curfew ordinance. Because aside from the recent victim, another one was also found traumatized. This time, it's a 13-year old girl.

"What will be your courses of action regarding the alarming numbers of recent crimes performed by juveniles?" asked a fellow MNHS reporter who has been given the chance to interview our mayor. "I will be adding more to the number of PNPs deployed to patrol the different places in our city while asking for the assistance of the PPSO from different barangays," Ahong said.

All guardian-less minors found in the streets of Lapu-Lapu from 10 in the evening to 5 in the early morning will be sent to the nearest police station or a DSWD Center and will remain there until the parents retrieve them themselves. 3rd-time violators will be subject to appropriate charges. Ahong opens his arms and ears (not legs) to more testimonies, imposing discipline in our city one step at a time.

Ahong announces E-Library for students—free research and printing services

LAPU-LAPU CITY, CEBU — You're a student, your research is due tomorrow and the thought of seeing furrowed eyebrows once again terrifies you. The idea is implanted in your head, but where do you start putting it all together?

"Free research, printing, oh and not to mention, free bond papers." Lapu-Lapu City Mayor Hon. Junard Ahong" Chan proudly announces our city's very own E-Library when asked about his plans for education. The said institution is to be situated within Hoopsdome, accommodating at most, a hundred people.

The city has received 20 all-in-one computers, a kind of computer wherein its CPU is embedded directly into its monitor, from the Lapu-Lapu City Chinese Guild. Although not to be limited there, the mayor has also emphasized that anyone with laptops or mobile gadgets can also utilize the free wifi provided there from 8 AM to 5 PM.

Fret not, for the threat of unintended usage has already been tackled beforehand. The E-library promotes productivity for it has made access to social media platforms and gaming sites forbidden.

To be expected mid-October, the mayor also plans to avail of a night time operation. Perfect for students going for an all-nighter. Now, all that's left are the noodles to slurp on.

Lapu-Lapu applies for State University

A state college is one funded by a state government. State colleges are often less expensive to attend than private universities. State rules and regulations apply to how each institution is administered, with specific guidelines relating to student residency. That way, everyone receives the education we all deserve. Here are the advantages and disadvantages of going to a state university:

LAPU-LAPU CITY, CEBU – " Free education especially to the public elementary and secondary. We are applying for a state university wherein its tuition is free." those were the words of our Honorable Mayor Junard "Ahong" Chan when asked about his plans regarding education.

Pros

- Affordable Tuition
- It's great if you don't need to work while you are in college, but if you do need extra money while earning your degree, the next best thing to avoiding employment altogether is working. In a nearby Jollibee or so (not sponsored). With this and the upcoming E-Library in Hoopsdome to better assist you with any research, you might as well excuse the excuses for not acing your exams.
- Dynamic Atmosphere
- Being directly connected to the government, opportunities will surely follow. Who knows, Lapu-Lapu might be feared in other areas and not just robotics (see article  for robotics news) (MNL trembles upon hearing the name LLC, LLC a topper in every category in recent PRO)
- Not only that, many public universities have advanced science or medical research programs; such programs do at times seem to detract from the faculty's attention to student affairs.
- On-Campus Employment Opportunities
- State universities often attract distinguished scholars as professors and therefore may offer a better overall academic experience for those who feel a college's faculty is what makes the difference between a mere college degree and a quality education.
- Knowledgeable Instructors

Cons

- Finding Out Information
- Size contributes to most of the issues that develop at public universities. Whether the school makes a mistake on your transcript or gives you an undeserved parking citation, it can be difficult to get in touch with the person who can reverse such errors. Allow plenty of time for dealing with administrative hassles.o
- Availability of Classes
- MNHS houses 6 000 students alone. With that, classes may fill quickly, so you might not be able to get the schedule you want. Most public universities have a number of offerings for each course and class sizes may be very large, meaning the environment may not be as nurturing as a smaller college. Registering for classes quickly should be a priority throughout school, it can mean the difference between graduating in four years or six, so don't delay.
- Accessibility of Professors
- Access to professors may be limited since each of the professors has hundreds of students at minimum. Also, some professors may be more focused on conducting research and publishing than actually teaching. Getting in touch with them when you need assistance after class can be difficult, especially if they are unfamiliar with you. Involve yourself in the classroom as much as possible and this should help you get the attention of the instructor when you encounter a problem.
- Students May Get Lost in the Crowd
- Particularly if they are introverted or not inclined to join student organizations, students at a larger school run a higher risk of feeling lonely or isolated. There is a much greater risk of this going on for a prolonged period of time at a large school, where classes are large and students number in the tens of thousands.
